Accessing the ACGME-I Faculty Survey

Follow the steps below to access the ACGME-I Faculty Survey. Programs are responsible for informing faculty members that they are scheduled to participate in this survey; the ACGME-I does not contact faculty members directly. Not all programs are scheduled to participate at the same time; scheduling is staggered between January and April of each academic year.

1. The Faculty Survey can be accessed on a mobile device or computer through a secure link e-mailed to the faculty member by the program.
   - Be advised that all ACGME-I data systems support updated versions of the following Internet browsers: Mozilla Firefox, Google Chrome, Apple Safari, or Internet Explorer (Version 11 and above).

2. Access the survey via the secure link sent from donotreply@acgme.org.
   - Programs are responsible for sending initial notifications to their survey takers that contain the secure link to their individual survey. To receive an e-mail reminder at any time during the survey window, use the Receive Survey Reminder feature. Survey takers will be prompted to enter the e-mail address on file within their current program and the 10-digit ACGME program code.

3. All deadlines are final. Access to the survey will close once the deadline has passed. No submissions are accepted after the survey window closes.

E-mail questions, comments, or concerns about the ACGME-I Faculty Survey to FacSurvey@acgme.org.